

Inna Zaleschikova Gilmore

Classical Flutist

BIO (Short)

Inna Zaleschikova Gilmore---flutist, prizewinner of international competitions.

Ms. Gilmore is a recipient of Artists International Special Presentation Award (2007), and recently gave her New York Debut at Weill Recital Hall at Carnegie Hall (January, 2008). Her other awards include prizes in the Haynes International Flute Competition in Boston, the Classical Heritage International Competition in Moscow and the Russian National Competition of Woodwinds in St. Petersburg.

Ms. Gilmore graduated with honors from Tchaikovsky Moscow Conservatory (Alexander Korneyev). In America she continued her professional flute studies with Philadelphia Orchestra members Loren Lind and Jeffrey Khaner, and at the New England Conservatory, Boston (Paula Robison).

Her professional debut as a concerto soloist took place in Moscow at Tchaikovsky Philharmonic Hall at the Moscow Autumn Music Festival in 1995, which was broadcast on National TV. As an orchestral player she worked as a member of the Concert Orchestra of Radio and Television in Moscow.

Inna Gilmore is a Haynes Flute Artist.

For more information, please visit www.InnaGilmore.com

